ABOUT VIRGINIA TECH

Dedicated to its motto, Ut Prosim (That I May Serve), Virginia Tech takes a hands-on, minds-on approach to education, preparing scholars to be leaders in their fields and communities. Since its founding as a land-grant college in 1872, Virginia Tech has grown to an enrollment of over 32,000.

With a strong presence in the National Capital Region, Roanoke, and on the main campus in Blacksburg, Virginia, as well as an international campus in Europe, Virginia Tech offers the widest range of degree choices in Virginia and is the state's leading research institution. Tech offers approximately 240 undergraduate and graduate degree programs and $494 million in research expenditures each year.

The university's undergraduate colleges are: College of Agriculture and Life Sciences; College of Architecture and Urban Studies; College of Engineering; College of Liberal Arts and Human Sciences; College of Natural Resources and Environment; College of Science; and the Pamplin College of Business. At the postgraduate level is the Graduate School, the Virginia-Maryland College of Veterinary Medicine, and the Virginia Tech Carilion School of Medicine, a public-private partnership with Carilion Clinic in Roanoke.

The desire to serve is deeply ingrained in Virginia Tech's learning, discovery and engagement. More than a motto, Ut Prosim (That I May Serve) is a value system that guides students' decisions and helps mold them into responsible citizens of the world.

Timothy D. Sands, the 16th president of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, joined the university in June of 2014. A scientist, educator and inventor, he has dedicated much of his career to advancing the impact of research and innovation in public education.

As president, he engaged the university community in a visionary initiative, called "Beyond Boundaries," that seeks to define Virginia Tech's role a generation into the future, and align the educational experience with the needs and opportunities that will be created by changing world economies and the evolving landscape of higher education.

In collaboration with the provost and academic leadership, he has championed the development of "Destination Areas," that leverage the university's signature strengths to attract talent and generate creative energy that extends across the disciplines.

He also launched and led InclusiveVT, an initiative to provide leadership, collaboration, guidance, and resources to support and accelerate the implementation of inclusion and diversity goals throughout the university community.

President Sands' vision for Virginia Tech embraces the university's heritage of service and community, and its motto, Ut Prosim (That I May Serve). Virginia Tech students will graduate with disciplinary mastery, technology literacy, cultural competency, resilience, empathy for others and the passions and strengths needed for a life and career of impactful service to humanity.

Before coming to Virginia Tech, President Sands served as executive vice president for academic affairs and provost of Purdue University in West Lafayette, Indiana. He was acting president during the summer and fall of 2012, before Mitchell E. Daniels became the 12th president of Purdue.

He earned a bachelor's degree with highest honors in engineering physics and a master's degree and doctorate in materials science from the University of California, Berkeley. He joined the Purdue faculty in 2002 as the Basil S. Turner Professor of Engineering in the schools of materials engineering and electrical and computer engineering. Prior to becoming provost, he served as the Mary Jo and Robert L. Kirk Director of the Birck Nanotechnology Center in Purdue's Discovery Park.

From 1993 to 2002, President Sands was a professor of materials science and engineering at the University of California, Berkeley, and before that, he performed research and directed research groups at Bell Communications Research (Bellcore) in Red Bank, New Jersey. Throughout his career, he has participated in and led research teams and academic programs that have been characterized by open collaboration across a wide array of disciplines.

Sands is a fellow of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE), the Materials Research Society (MRS) and the National Academy of Inventors (NAI). He serves on Governor McAuliffe's Council on Youth Entrepreneurship.

President Sands is joined at Virginia Tech by his wife, Dr. Laura Sands, a professor of gerontology in the Department of Human Development at Virginia Tech. All four of their children graduated from Purdue and are proud members of the Virginia Tech community.

Whit Babcock is in his third year as Virginia Tech's Director of Athletics after being formally announced as Tech's AD on Jan. 24, 2014. The Harrisonburg, Virginia native came back to the state following stints at Cincinnati, Missouri, West Virginia and Auburn.

Babcock continues making his mark on all facets of the athletics department, from fan engagement to facilities to fundraising and coaching hires.

The 2015-16 academic year turned into a busy one for him, as he made three key coaching hires and oversaw the revamping of the Hokie Club, the athletics department's fundraising arm. Babcock brought in Justin Fuente as the new football coach to succeed legendary Frank Beamer, who retired after the 2015 season following 29 years as the head coach of the Hokies. Babcock also tabbed Kenny Brooks to lead the Virginia Tech women's basketball program, and John Sung to lead the women's lacrosse program.

Brooks comes to Virginia Tech after 14 seasons at James Madison where he led the Dukes to a 337-122 record and 11 consecutive postseason appearances including six NCAA bids and five trips to the WNIT. Over 11 seasons at JMU, Brooks' squads never won fewer than 24 games, averaging 26.3 wins per season.

In Babcock's inaugural year at Virginia Tech, he hired head basketball coach Buzz Williams who took Marquette University to the NCAA tournament five times in six seasons and the Hokies to the second round of the NIT in 2016.

On the fundraising front, Babcock and his staff teamed with the staff of the Hokie Club to launch the "Hokie Scholarship Fund." The program is designed to increase funding for scholarships by requiring football and men's basketball season ticket holders in certain designated locations to meet minimum per-seat gift contributions. These contributions will provide revenue to meet the rising costs of tuition for the school's more than 550 scholarship student-athletes.

The 2015-16 academic year also saw Babcock and his staff secure corporate donations for upcoming facilities projects. Carilion Clinic committed $5 million that will be used for scholarships and improvements to Cassell Coliseum, and Union Bank committed $3.5 million toward improvements to English Field, the Hokies' baseball home.

Babcock arrived in Blacksburg following two and a half years as the Director of Athletics at the University of Cincinnati and five years at the University of Missouri, where he served as the Executive Associate Director of Athletics. His background in fundraising, marketing, promotions, ticket sales, licensing, and multimedia partnerships were key attributes in support of his hiring. In his introductory press conference, Babcock cited three guiding principles for his vision for the athletics department's future: commitment to comprehensive excellence, centering the department's focus on the student-athlete experience, and engaging the community.

Babcock has been active on local and national speaking circuits. He has presented before the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA), National Association of Collegiate Women Athletics Administrators (NACWAA) and the 1-A Athletic Directors Association annual institute. He is a past president of the National Association of Athletic Development Directors (NAADD).

Prior to his time at Cincinnati, Babcock's 22-year career path included stops at Missouri, West Virginia, Auburn and James Madison.

A student-athlete himself, Babcock lettered four seasons in baseball at James Madison University and served as team captain his senior year. He earned his bachelor's degree from JMU in 1992. In 1996, he received his master's in sports management from West Virginia University.

He and his wife, Kelly, have three sons: Andrew, Brett and Eli.

Desiree Reed-Francois fills a critical role for Virginia Tech Director of Athletics Whit Babcock, overseeing the football and volleyball programs, and the day-to-day operations of the external team, which includes ticketing services, marketing and promotions, HokieVision, strategic communications, graphic design/publications, corporate development, and IMG, as well as having oversight of sports medicine.

Reed-Francois followed Babcock to Tech in May of 2014 after serving as Babcock's Senior Associate Athletics Director and Senior Woman Administrator at the University of Cincinnati. She served as the interim AD at Cincinnati for five months after Babcock left to take the same position at Tech, making her the first Hispanic female (interim) AD at the FBS level.

"She earned my trust and respect at Cincinnati and did an outstanding job leading and enhancing all of the external units of the department along with successfully collaborating with our coaches, staff and university administration," Babcock said in announcing her hire. "Desiree believes in creating 'memorable experiences' for our fans, students, donors and alumni and will bring tremendous energy, organization, creativity and work ethic to the department. She will help move Virginia Tech forward and will be an asset to our program and overall vision."

Coming to Tech as the Executive Associate Athletics Director and Senior Woman Administrator, Reed-Francois received a promotion to Deputy Athletics Director in June of 2016. A 2009 graduate of the Division I Athletics Director Institute, she is among an elite group of Power Five female administrators who have ascended to the role of Deputy AD.

She is also among an even more exclusive group of women who oversee the day-to-day operations of a nationally prominent FBS football program. Along with Babcock, she played a pivotal role in the hiring of head coach Justin Fuente to succeed Frank Beamer.

"I lean on her for advice and counsel often and she is an executive leader of our department in her own right," Babcock said. "She has my trust and respect. She does a wonderful job for the Hokies.

"Thanks to her steadfast approach and commitment, we have developed a very collaborative culture in athletics and an enhanced commitment to excellence across the board. She has made a very positive impact on our department and our student-athletes, while strengthening our relationships on campus and across the country. We are very fortunate that Desiree is leading so many aspects of our team at Virginia Tech."

"I am humbled by the trust and responsibility that Whit has placed in me," Reed-Francois said. "But this is truly a team effort and I'm grateful for the many talented individuals who have all been part of the positive momentum that we are collectively building. Whit has been a tremendous mentor and example for us all. I appreciate his continued leadership and his support of our work as we seek to uphold and exceed the very high standards of Virginia Tech."

As a former NCAA Division I student-athlete herself — she was a member of the UCLA rowing team — Reed-Francois brings a unique perspective to her post and has been a staunch advocate of making the student-athlete and fan experience at Virginia Tech even better. She and her respective units have listened to feedback from coaches, students, ticket-holders, donors and many other groups to more effectively and authentically engage a wide array of Virginia Tech stakeholders. Their efforts have recently been recognized for national awards by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) and Information Display and Entertainment Association (IDEA).

Prior to coming to Virginia Tech, Reed-Francois oversaw the football, women's basketball and volleyball programs at Cincinnati in addition to the sports communications, marketing and promotions and video services and production departments. She also led the department's strategic planning initiatives and assisted in management of external partnerships.

During her more than 17 years in intercollegiate athletics administration, Reed-Francois has occupied positions at the University of California, San Jose State, Santa Clara, Fresno State and the University of San Francisco. Prior to that, she held numerous positions of progressive leadership, including working as a legal associate for the Oakland Raiders and serving in a similar position with the NFL's Management Council.

A 1994 graduate of UCLA, Reed-Francois earned a Juris Doctorate from the University of Arizona College of Law. She is a member of the California Bar, taught law classes at Tennessee and Santa Clara University and is involved on the national level, serving as a Division I-A Fellow and presenting at the NACDA Mentoring Institute and the NACWAA, NACMA, NACDA and CoSIDA annual meetings.

Reed-Francois lives in Blacksburg with her husband, Joshua, and son, Jackson.

HAHN HURST BASKETBALL PRACTICE CENTER

Virginia Tech is able to claim one of the finest practice facilities in major college basketball. The Hahn Hurst Basketball Practice Center affords the Hokies every convenience needed to build an elite college basketball program.

Since moving into the center in August 2009, this $21 million facility has given the Hokies the facility so needed to compete at the highest level. The 49,000 foot building, which ties together modern, state-of-the-art amenities with the architectural integrity of the beautiful Virginia Tech campus, is a shining beacon to the commitment the university has made to basketball.

From the moment you walk through the front doors, you are engulfed with the magnitude of this beautiful facility. The two-story front lobby is a testament to the history and future promise of the Virginia Tech basketball program. From the large graphics to the various memorabilia, this area is awash with images of the greatest players in Hokie history.

The main feature of the building is the two-court, 16,609-square-foot practice gym. Spacious and convenient, the gym is equipped with a soft wall that can be lowered to divide the courts to allow both the men's and the women's team to practice at the same time. The courts are replicas of the main court in Cassell Coliseum, allowing the team to practice on the same surface on which it will play.

The office suites on the second floor feature offices for the assistants, a conference room and a huge office for the head coach. A view of the practice courts is available from the head coach's office, the large reception area and the connecting balcony.

Behind a secured entrance, the facility offers every feature needed to build a program. The spacious weight room has the full range of free weights, machines, treadmills, ellipticals and other equipment — all with a panoramic view of the practice courts.

Adjacent to the weight room is the modern, fully-equipped training room. This area features two examination rooms, a taping area and hot and cold immersion tubs. A state-of-the-art Alter G rehab machine also is located in this area. The sports medicine staff can handle all aspects of treatment and rehabilitation of injuries from this room.

Across the hall is the equipment room, completely stocked with the finest gear offered by Nike. This area opens out into the parking lot where the team begins its travel just steps from the locker room.

Speaking of the locker room, the Hokies boast the finest around. The fully appointed lounge area is outfitted with a sound system, 62 inch flat screen television, refrigerator and computer workstations. The complex also features a classroom with video and dry-erase boards, perfect for various forms of instruction and team meetings. The locker room itself is spacious, with video screens and large individual lockers with extra storage space.

Immediately behind the practice gym is a large patio area. This area is used for social events and tailgating functions.

SPORTS MEDICINE PROVIDING EXPERIENCED, PROFESSIONAL CARE

The Sports Medicine Department at Virginia Tech is constantly evolving to incorporate new ideas utilizing state-of-the-art resources for the betterment of all Hokie student-athletes. Under the leadership of Associate Athletics Director for Sports Medicine Mike Goforth, the department is constantly improving and developing new strategies to provide the most current and comprehensive care.

The team of certified athletic trainers, orthopaedic surgeons, Board Certified primary care physicians, chiropractors, physical therapists, sport psychologists, nutritionists, massage therapists and orthotists are available on site to manage the health care needs of Tech athletes. The staff continually looks for ways to enhance the services provided for its athletes as evidenced by its participation in local and national projects pertaining to related topics such as concussion management, prevention of antibiotic resistant types of staph infection (MRSA), high ankle sprains and collegiate health care management strategies. Research is considered instrumental to the sports medicine department. The department has participated in several projects with the engineering department and school of education, respectively.

Tech is in its 11th full year in the 4,300square-foot Eddie Ferrell Memorial Training Room, which consolidated the training rooms that existed in the Merryman Center and Cassell Coliseum. The facility gives the training staff a centralized area to care for the needs of all Virginia Tech student-athletes. There is top-of-the-line equipment and a unique style of architecture, developed by Glenn Reynolds, AIA and Larry Perry as the consulting engineer. Reynolds helped Tech spearhead another expansion project that doubled the size of the existing training room and united the entire medical staff, putting both the athletic trainers and doctors under one roof. Construction was completed in 2014 to convert the current training room into a functional rehabilitation space for preventative and post injury care, while also adding doctor's offices adjacent to a new treatment area.

Tech has more than 10,000 square feet dedicated to sports medicine, placing it in the top five percent nationally. The training room also has offices for the staff, dozens of training tables, two cold tubs, whirlpools, an underwater treadmill, a Biodex System 3 and various other pieces of rehabilitation equipment and treatment modalities. In addition, a training room has been constructed in Rector Field House for teams utilizing the facility, and the Gordon Family Mobile Sports Medicine Unit is a portable training room that can be transported to various venues.

The Hahn Hurst Basketball Practice Center contains a fully-equipped training room. This area features two examination rooms, a taping area and hot and cold immersion tubs. A state-of-the-art Alter G rehab machine also is located in this area. The sports medicine staff can handle all aspects of treatment and rehabilitation of injuries from this room. Team physical therapist and former Virginia Tech women's basketball player Erin Gibson works directly out of this facility in support of the basketball programs. Gibson plays a large role in the overall program developed to return an injured athlete to 100 percent.

Athletes have many options to help prevent them or protect The from injuries. sports medicine staff pride takes great athletes in treating year-round. Special attention is paid to offseason activity. The staff will analyze past injury data from each participant and construct a preventative program.

GREG BEATO, D.O. Team Physician

A vital part of student-athlete medical services is access to the Carilion Clinic. Virginia Tech and Carilion Clinic have partnered in order to create the Roanoke-based Virginia Tech Carilion School of Medicine and Research Institute. The Hokies' student-athletes will continue to benefit from this partnership for years to come.

Team chiropractor, Dr. Greg Tilley, provides Tech athletes with specialized treatment for spine-related conditions and plays a huge role in performance enhancement through various chiropractic techniques. Team orthopaedic surgeon Dr. Chris Catterson brings a wealth of experience and skill to assist when athletes need orthopaedic consultation for certain types of sports-related injuries. Dr. Catterson brings a unique skill set and has excellent bedside manner that ensures that athletes and parents alike are comfortable and confident whenever surgery may be indicated.

Over the past 15 years, Tech has developed the reputation for producing top-level certified athletic trainers. Graduates are now employed in positions across the country at various levels of the profession.

ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE HELPING STUDENT-ATHLETES GET BIGGER, FASTER, STRONGER

Having a top-flight strength and conditioning program is one of the most important aspects of a successful college basketball program. Long before players ever step on a court in competition, the truly successful ones have dedicated themselves to the long hours of preparation it takes to be the best. The Virginia Tech strength and conditioning program is perfectly suited to develop successful student-athletes. And with the increased space in the Hahn Hurst Basketball Practice Center, this has proven even more so for the Hokies in the past two years.

Under the direction of assistant athletics director for athletic performance Ben Hilgart, the Virginia Tech strength and conditioning program is among the best in the nation, helping to make the women's basketball program one of the best as well. Greg Werner is the strength and conditioning coach for the women's team, working directly with assistant athletics director for basketball programs, David Jackson. The results of hard work by the staff and the student-athletes have paid huge dividends as the Hokies have continually shown improvement in this area.

The women's basketball team trains in the 4,000-square foot strength and conditioning center in the Hahn Hurst Basketball Practice Center. This dedicated weight room facility features free-weight equipment, a full line of Hammer Strength equipment, and four platforms. With this facility, Hokie basketball players do not need to split time between different weight rooms; everything needed to build a winner is under one roof.

Tech also has the use of a 10-by-40-yard sand pit located outdoors and adjacent to the weight room in the Merryman Center. This pit is used for resistive running drills to improve speed. The Hokies also have the practice fields for use in running drills.

ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE

SPORT PSYCHOLOGY

HOKIES

The Virginia Tech Athletics Department contracts with the Thomas E. Cook Counseling Center to provide psychological services for its student-athletes through the Sport Psychology Office. Dr. Gary Bennett coordinates the sport psychology department, which offers psychological and performance enhancement services for student-athletes. The mission of the sport psychology office is to promote student-athlete learning and development. Consistent with the university's mission to "educate the whole person," the Sport Psychology Program promotes the academic, intellectual, social, emotional, athletic, and personal development of student-athletes.

On average, Bennett conducts over 50 individual sessions per week and meets weekly with teams as the need arises.

The response to the sport psychology program has been positive. The student-athletes are very receptive to the services offered by the doctors. The sport psychology office reaches out to student-athletes who may not have considered going to the counseling service that is offered to all students at Virginia Tech.

SPORTS NUTRITION

Eating healthy and making food functional for athletic performance are important aspects of a Virginia Tech student-athlete's life, and that's why the athletics department implemented the sports nutrition program in July of 2002. Jennie Zabinsky is the department's director of sports nutrition.

The sports nutrition program offers a wide variety of services that aim to enhance the performance of each student-athlete. Services include individual assessments, team talks, body composition analysis using the Bod Pod, grocery store tours, supplement management and education, disordered eating counseling, travel meal arrangements, and basketball training table menu planning and management. Zabinsky works closely with coaches, team physicians, athletic trainers, strength coaches and the sport psychologist to address any performance concerns. She directs the nutrition and performance committee that meets monthly to discuss student-athletes of concern.

The sports nutrition staff manages two facilities, the Nutrition Oasis and Fueling Station, that provide athletes fuel in between workouts, classes and meals. Each facility provides recovery beverages, Gatorade products, smoothies, and a variety of high performance snack options as well as nutrition education resources. In addition, Virginia Tech has started providing a training table to help promote hydration, muscle recovery, glycogen, synthesis, providing options to meet a variety of energy needs while increasing antioxidant and fiber intake.

DR. GARY BENNETT SPORT PSYCHOLOGIST

Responsibilities: Bennett meets with student-athletes on an individual basis for personal counseling and to discuss the mental aspects of the game. He also works on team building, communication and performance enhancement. Bennett has taught and supervised pre-doctoral level interns.

Joined VT Athletics Staff: 2000 (full time since 2007); 16th year.

Record at Virginia Tech: Bennett began working at Virginia Tech in 1995 at the Cook Counseling Center. Now, as the sport psychologist, he also serves on the committees for nutrition, performance and substance abuse; and the planning committee for the "Summit for Student-Athlete Success" events. He also works with various teams in the area of performance enhancement.

Education: Centre (Ky.) College, 1981, B.A. English, where he played baseball; University of Kentucky, 1988, master's in rehabilitation counseling; UK, 1995, Ph.D. in counseling psychology.

Of Note: Bennett is licensed as a clinical psychologist and has additional training in sport psychology. He is certified as a sport psychology consultant by the Association of Applied Sport Psychology and is a member of Division 47 (exercise and sport psychology) of the American Psychology Association.

Personal: Bennett lives in Blacksburg and enjoys playing golf and basketball, as well as hiking and skiing, in his spare time.

SPORTS NUTRITIONIST

Responsibilities: Zabinsky is responsible for all nutrition and performance related concerns for varsity studentathletes including individual counseling, team talks, body composition analysis using the Bod Pod, recovery nutrition plans, grocery store tours, training table menu planning, travel meal arrangements, managing the Nutrition Oasis and Fueling Stations, and supplement education.

Joined VT Staff: 2011; fourth year.

NUTRITION OASIS & TRAINING TABLE USING WHOLE FOODS TO ENHANCE PERFORMANCE AND HEALTH

The Nutrition Oasis serves as a resource room, providing fuel for athletes before, during, and after training. It includes access to protein and carbohydrate recovery drinks, Gatorade, fresh fruit, and bagels for all Olympic sport athletes. A new and improved Oasis opened during the summer of 2013 and includes a much larger space to accommodate a full-service smoothie bar, nutrition education area, food prep and storage space, an additional sports nutrition office, and room for small catered events. This space allows the sports nutrition program to continue to improve how it serves Virginia Tech student-athletes from a food and nutrition standpoint. Virginia Tech has started providing a training table, giving teams the opportunity to come together for a meal planned out by the sports nutrition staff. The goal with the menu is to promote hydration, muscle recovery, glycogen (energy) synthesis, providing options to meet a variety of energy needs while increasing antioxidant and fiber intake. The Hokies work with a chef who interacts with the student-athletes, teaching them about the foods being prepared while encouraging them to try new foods.

HOKIES

Kenny Brooks was named the seventh head women's basketball coach at Virginia Tech on March 28, 2016.

Brooks joined the Hokies after an impressive 14-season stint as head coach at James Madison University where he compiled a record of 337-122 (.756), making him the winningest coach in that school's history. Brooks guided the Dukes to 11 consecutive postseason appearances, including six NCAA bids and five trips to the WNIT. Under his direction in 2015-16, JMU compiled a 27-6 record, including a 17-1 mark in conference play, as the Dukes made a third straight trip to the NCAA tournament.

Over 11 seasons at JMU, Brooks' squads never won fewer than 24 games, averaging 26.3 wins per year over that span. The Dukes won three consecutive (2014, 2015, 2016) Colonial Athletic Association championships under Brooks' tutelage and captured five conference titles over a seven season span. He was named CAA Coach of the Year for a fourth time in 2015-16, while his student-athletes also garnered CAA Player and Rookie of the Year honors.

Brooks registered winning campaigns in 13 of his 14 seasons in Harrisonburg, ascending to No. 23 in the AP Top 25 and No. 21 in the USA Today Coaches Poll in 2014-15 as his squad tied a school record with 29 victories. In 2013-14, he led the Dukes to their first NCAA Tournament victory since 1991 when his 11th-seeded Dukes knocked off sixth-seeded Gonzaga 72-63 in the first round. In 2007, the Dukes earned an at-large bid to the NCAA Tournament, marking only the second time a CAA team had received an at-large berth.

Under Brooks, James Madison tallied six CAA Players of the Year, three Rookies of the Year and two Defensive Players of the Year. The Dukes also earned 31 All-CAA selections, 11 Defensive team and 10 All-Rookie team selections during his tenure.

A 1992 graduate of James Madison, he played three seasons under legendary coach Lefty Driesell and made two NIT appearances while earning a degree in business management. He began his coaching career as a part-time assistant for the 1993-94 JMU men's squad that won the CAA Tournament and advanced to the NCAA tournament.

After four seasons as an assistant for the men's program at VMI (1994-98), he moved back to his alma mater as a men's assistant from 1998-2002. He was named interim women's head coach on Dec. 6, 2002 before taking over those duties on a full-time basis on March 21, 2003.

Brooks and his wife the former Chrissy Stewart have four children: Kendyl, Chloe, Gabby and Nicholas.

Jennifer Brown joined the Hokies in April 2016 as an assistant coach.

She came to Tech after serving in a similar role at James Madison since 2010. During her tenure with the Dukes, the team made six trips to the postseason, including four NCAA appearances. Brown coached Kayla Cooper-Williams to CAA Rookie of the Year honors in 2015-16. During the 2014-15 season, Brown coached Lauren Okafor, who went on to be taken as the 34th pick in the 2015 WNBA Draft.

During JMU's 2013-14 campaign, she helped the Dukes to one of the most successful seasons in program history as JMU tied a school record 29 wins and advanced to the postseason for the ninth consecutive season. The CAA champion Dukes won their first NCAA tournament game since 1991 with a 72-63 victory over No. 6 Gonzaga in the round of 64. In her first season (2010-11) as a coach at JMU, the Dukes won the Colonial Athletic Association championship and played in the NCAA Tournament. In her second season (2011-12) JMU advanced to the championship game of the Women's National Invitation Tournament, and in her third (2012-13) the Dukes were WNIT quarterfinalists.

Brown played for the Dukes from 2006-08, helping JMU to a 51-16 record, a trip to the NCAA Tournament and a trip to the WNIT during her two seasons. In her junior season in 2006-07, JMU compiled a 27-6 record, was runner-up in the Colonial Athletic Association Tournament, earned an at-large bid to the NCAA Tournament and was ranked as high as 22nd in the Associated Press Top 25 poll and as high as 25th in the USA Today Top 25 poll. As a senior in 2007-08, Brown was a starting forward on the Dukes' team that put together a 24-10 record, advanced to the round of 16 of the Women's National Invitation Tournament, and received votes during the season in both Top 25 polls.

She earned a bachelor's degree in justice studies in 2007 and a master's in kinesiology in 2008, both from JMU. In addition, Brown is a 2013 graduate of the NCAA Women's Coaches Academy and attended the ACA Forum in 2015.

Former Virginia Tech women's basketball player Britney Anderson returned to Blacksburg in June 2015 when she was named an assistant coach.

Anderson played for the Hokies from 2003-07, helping Tech to three NCAA Tournament appearances and a WNIT berth. During her career, Anderson shot an impressive 44.6 percent from the field and averaged 10.2 points during her senior campaign.

Anderson served as an assistant coach at Radford (2013-15), where her responsibilities included scheduling, community service and camp coordination while focusing on wing player development and assisting in recruiting and scouting. Under Anderson's tutelage, the Highlanders were the Big South's top three-point shooting team (.337) in 2014-15. In addition, Anderson helped develop two All-Big South honorees.

Anderson was also a standout high school player in the NRV, having led Blacksburg High School to the Virginia High School AA Girls' Basketball State Championship during her senior year. After averaging 18.2 points and 9.2 rebounds per game that season, Anderson was named Virginia's Miss Basketball.

Before joining the staff at Radford, Anderson was a corporate recruiter for M.C. Dean Inc. in Dulles, Va., while also coaching girls' basketball at Potomac Falls High School and in the AAU ranks with Team Unique u15, Matrix u15, PSPA u12/u16 for five years.

Shawn Poppie joined the Virginia Tech staff as assistant coach in July 2016.

Poppie comes to Virginia Tech after serving at Furman for the past three seasons, most recently in the role of associate head coach. During his time, he helped the Paladins to a pair of trips to the postseason. In 2016, the Paladins advanced to the semifinals of the SoCon tournament before falling to cochampion Mercer.

Prior to his stint at Furman, Poppie spent two seasons at USC Upstate.

Poppie began his career as an assistant coach at Limestone College where he served as recruiting coordinator. During his tenure, he recruited and signed three all-conference performers and helped the Saints to a 25-7 record, advancing to the NCAA Division II National Tournament in 2012.

A 2007 graduate of Limestone, Poppie was a two-time Carolinas-Virginia Athletic All-Conference player. He graduated as the school's all-time leader in assists (602) and steals (168) and finished third on the scoring list (1,246). Poppie earned his bachelor's degree in sports management.

The Crescent City, III. native is married to Regina and they have a son, Kai.

Tim Clark was named Virginia Tech Women's Basketball Director of Operations in April 2016.

He previously held the same role at James Madison under Brooks since 2010. HOKIE HOOPS HISTORY

FROM A HUMBLE BEGINNING MORE THAN 30 YEARS AGO,

VIRGINIA TECH WOMEN'S BASKETBALL HAS DEVELOPED INTO ONE OF THE NATION'S TOP COLLEGE PROGRAMS

THE BEGINNINGS

HOKIES

Women's basketball at Virginia Tech began in 1970 as a club sport under the direction of coach Ganna Roberts. John Ristroph coached the squad during the 1972-73 season. In 1973, Joe Sgro, a professor at Tech, took over the team until 1976 when John Wetzel was named head coach. The team gained full varsity status beginning with the 1976-77 season.

TECH'S VARSITY COACHES

The Hokies' first varsity coach was former Tech player and former assistant coach of the NBA's Portland Trail Blazers, John Wetzel. He played on the men's team from 1963-66 and then went on to play pro ball with the Lakers, Suns and Hawks before coming back to Tech to finish his education and coach the women's squad. In his first and only season, his team recorded a 7-9 record.

Taking over for Wetzel in 1977 was Carolyn Owen, whose team registered an 8-16 mark. In 1978, Carol Alfano came on the scene and, in just her second season, guided the Tech women to their first winning record. Alfano coached the Hokies for 19 seasons guiding them to the program's first NCAA appearences in 1994 and 1995.

Bonnie Henrickson became the Hokies' fourth head coach in 1997 and led Tech to five NCAA Tournament and two WNIT bids in her seven seasons.

Beth Dunkenberger became head coach in 2004 and guided Tech to the postseason three times while at the helm. The Hokies received bids to the NCAA Tournament in 2005 and 2006 and advanced to the WNIT Third Round in 2007.

Dennis Wolff became Tech's seventh head coach on March 22, 2011. Wolff helped the Hokies rebuild, taking Tech to postseason play for the first time in nine years as the Hokies made the WNIT in 2016.

Kenny Brooks was tabbed the eighth head coach in Virginia Tech history on March 28, 2016.

FIRST SCHOLARSHIP PLAYERS

The first women's basketball player to earn any kind of scholarship was Helena Flannagan in 1977, when she received partial aid. Kim Albany (1978-82), who was recruited by Owen, was Tech's first full scholarship player. Also in 1978, Sis Spriggs received a full grant, and partials went to Donna Cooper, Pauline Landis and Sandy Berry.

RETIRED JERSEY

Renee Dennis' No. 44 jersey was retired at the conclusion of her career in 1987. Dennis, from Bridgeport, Conn., is one of only 14 athletes in Tech athletic history to have his or her jersey retired. She was the first female athlete to receive that honor and one of only three so far in Hokie history.

The others to have their jerseys retired are head football coach Frank Beamer, football players Cornell Brown, Carroll Dale, Jake Grove, Frank Loria, Jim Pyne, Bruce Smith and Michael Vick, men's basketball stars Dell Curry, Vernell "Bimbo" Coles, Allan Bristow and Ace Custis, baseball coach Chuck Hartman, baseball player Johnny Oates, volleyball standout Lisa Pikalek and softball All-American Angela Tincher.

PROFESSIONAL PLAYERS

Dennis played professionally in Australia, where she was her division's Player of the Year in 1989-90. Wendy Sanders played professionally in Belgium.

Tere Williams became the first Hokie to be selected in the WNBA Draft, when she was picked in the third round by the Phoenix Mercury. Ieva Kublina was drafted in the third round (31st overall) in the 2004 draft by the Indiana Fever.

At the conclusion of the 2005-06 season, the Hokies' Kerri Gardin was selected in the third round (34th overall) of the WNBA Draft by the Chicago Sky.

Nare Diawara was drafted in the third round (30th overall) of the 2007 WNBA Draft by the San Antonio Silver Stars.

Gardin, who played overseas following her collegiate career, became the first Tech player to play and start in a WNBA regular season game in 2008 as a member of the Connecticut Sun.

leva Kublina played in Hungary, Gardin in Israel and Lindsay Biggs and Utahya Drye both played professionally in Europe. Kublina competed in the 2008 Summer Olympics in Beijing, China, and Diawara led her Malian National Team to the 20th African Nations Championship in Dakar, Senegal. However, Diawara missed the Olympics due to injury.

After the 2013-14 season, the Hokies had two players sign to play overseas. Monet Tellier inked a deal to play for Artego Bydgoszcz in Poland while Uju Ugoka signed on with Italy's Vassalli 2G which plays in the country's top division. In addition, 2013 graduate, Alyssa Fenyn was a mid-season addition to MBK Ruzomberok in Slovakia where she had a standout rookie performance.

PRESS AND PHOTO CREDENTIALS

Email April Goode at a.goode@vt.edu to request credentials for the season or on a game-by-game basis.

The NCAA has established a control policy to keep the court free from congestion. Only photographers on assignment and members of the television media are given photo credentials. Freelance or amateur photographers will not be issued credentials. Accredited photographers may work along the playing floor at both ends behind the restriction line established by the NCAA. Permission to install strobe lighting must be made, in writing, to April Goode, women's basketball media contact, at least 10 days in advance of the game. Photographers should follow the same credentialing system as listed above.

Credentials will be mailed with advance notice, otherwise credentials may be picked up prior to the game from administrative assistant Donna Smith in the Strategic Communications Office. Credentials not mailed or picked up will be held at the Will Call Window located at the front entrance to Cassell Coliseum.

Media parking is limited. Parking is available in the lot across from Cassell Coliseum. The entrance to this lot is on Beamer Way. Requests for parking credentials should be made by contacting April Goode.

Media information and game notes are available by email and will be posted on hokiesports.com.

HOKIES

The Virginia Tech women's basketball team continues its tradition of giving back to Blacksburg and the surrounding communities.

In December, the women's basketball team was active with the Montgomery County Christmas Store. Fans were encouraged to bring donations to games during December and the Hokies assisted the store with set-up and helped families with their holiday shopping.

Tech hosted both the Special Olympics and Military Appreciation Day during the month of January, and in February the Hokies held a day for Girl Scouts and their families to attend a game. The Hokies are always active in the Play4Kay initiative which honors former NC State head coach Kay Yow, who lost her long battle with breast cancer. Tech wears pink in an annual game to help raise awareness and funds for breast cancer research.

The Hokies also reached out to local law enforcement, both Blacksburg Police and Virginia Tech Police Departments. The team delivered cookies, spent time with the officers and thanked them for their service to the community and all they do to keep the town and campus safe.
