2017 ACC Women's Golf Championship

*The Reserve Golf Club
Pawley's Island, South Carolina
April 13-15, 2017*

HOKIE NOTES

Entering The ACC Championship

This is the Hokies' second appearance in the ACC Women's Golf Championship ... The Hokies will start the same line-up as last year's event.

A Change of Venue

The 2017 ACC Women's Golf Championship will be played this week at The Reserve Golf Club in Pawley's Island, South Carolina ... The event was originally scheduled to be played at Sedgefield Country Club in Greensboro, North Carolina, but was moved following the passing of the HB2 law in North Carolina.

The Hokies are Strong in the Classroom

The Virginia Tech women's golf team is really rolling when it comes to the classroom ... The team had a 3.52 GPA in the Fall 2016 semester, best among all 22 sports at Virginia Tech ... Their 3.36 cumulative GPA is fourth best on campus ... All 10 student-athletes made the AD Honor Roll (semester over 3.00) and four of the 10 student-athletes made Dean's List (semester over 3.40).

Tech's Top Athletics Honor

Virginia Tech women's golfer Elizabeth Bose has been named the 2016-17 Skelton Award for Academic Excellence ... This is the highest academic honor awarded to Virginia Tech student-athletes ... She is the first women's golfer to earn the honor.

The Hokies Last Season in the ACC Championship

Virginia Tech made its inaugural appearance in the ACC Women's Golf Championship last season ... The team finished 12th overall in the event played at Sedgefield Country Club in Greensboro, North Carolina.

Two Years In

This is the Hokies' second season of intercollegiate action in the sport of women's golf ... Tech announced the formation of the program on May 13, 2013 and announced the hiring of Carol Robertson as the first head coach of the program on July 8, 2013.

Carol Robertson

Individually, How We've Done

This season, six Hokies have recorded individual top 20 finishes in tournaments, five being top 10 finishes and two of those are top 5 finishes ... The Hokies' best individual finish of the season was a third place finish by Elizabeth Bose at the Starmount Fall Classic ... In all, three Hokies finished in the top 20 of that event and Tech tied for second overall, its best finish of the season.

Teamwise, How We've Done

This season, the Hokies have competed in 10 events ... Tech's best finish was a tie for second place at the Starmount Fall Classic at the Starmount Forest Country Club in Greensboro, North Carolina in early October ... Tech finished in the top 10 in six of the 10 events.

Sparkling New Digs

At the beginning of the Spring 2017 semester, the Virginia Tech men's and women's golf teams opened the new indoor practice facility, located in Cassell Coliseum ... The 2,600-square foot facility includes offices for the coaches, locker space for the teams, a large meeting room, a putting and chip area and two state-of-the-art golf simulators ... Total cost of the project was approximately $600,000, and all money was in place through private donations as construction began ... This facility allows more practice and instruction during winter months and inclement weather ... The location of the facility also is advantageous in its proximity to nutrition, sports medicine, strength and conditioning and student academic support.

What an Ace!

Virginia Tech head coach Carol Robertson had quite a day on the course on March 9, 2015 ... Robertson, assistant coach Russell Abbott and the Hokies' two redshirting golfers, Allison Woodward and Amanda Hollandsworth, spent spring break in Florida, practicing and playing during the program's first year, when the team was not competing ... Not once, but twice in the practice round at Celebration Golf Course in Orlando, Robertson aced the par 3s on the front nine.

A Course to Dye For

Virginia Tech's commitment to golf became more evident 13 years ago, when it was announced that famed golf course architect Pete Dye would lead the renovation of the River Course of Virginia Tech ... The project, which began on Jan. 5, 2004, was completed in 2006 ... A new $5.5 million clubhouse was completed in 2010 ... Upon completion, the course became a Pete Dye Signature Course and was rechristened as the Pete Dye River Course of Virginia Tech ... In addition to the upgraded course, a team facility boasts an indoor teaching center, locker rooms and team meeting room for the Virginia Tech men's and women's golf teams ... These improvements were made possible by support from Bill and Alice Goodwin of Richmond, Virginia ... The gift covered all costs of design and construction ... As part of the project, Tech's artificial practice tee was covered and equipped with radiant heaters ... The indoor facility was constructed adjacent to the newly-dedicated golf team practice area, which was made possible through the generosity of long-time golf supporter and scholarship donor, the late C.M. "Buddy" Neviasser ... This facility provides Tech players with one of the finest total practice complexes in the nation.

HOKIE SPORTS.COM

What is a Hokie?

The answer leads all the way back to 1896 when Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute ... With the change came the necessity for writing a new cheer and a contest for such a purpose was held by the student body ... Senior O.M. Stull won first prize for his "Hokie" yell, which is still used today ... Later, when asked if "Hokie" had any special meaning, Stull explained the word was solely the product of his imagination and was used only as an attention-getter for his yell ... It soon became a nickname for all Tech teams and for those people loyal to Tech athletics.

Head Coach Carol Robertson

Carol Robertson is in her third season and second season of competition, as the head coach of the Hokies' women's golf program. Robertson was hired on July 8, 2013, as the program's first-ever head coach.

Robertson has built this program the right way. Recruiting outstanding student-athletes who compete on the course, in the classroom and in the community.

The Virginia Tech women's golf program was a known and respected entity before the team ever competed in their first event.

Robertson's players immediately became integrated into the fabric of not only the athletics programs, but the university community as a whole. And as the team competes on the course, they have taken advantage of the support of the Hokie Nation.

Robertson came to Virginia Tech following two seasons as the head coach at Old Dominion University. She became the head coach at ODU following one season as the assistant for both the men's and women's programs at the school.

While with the Monarchs, Robertson led her teams to five tournament titles in her two seasons, including three tournament titles this past season. In the 2012-13 season, ODU finished in the top five in eight of the 10 regular season events. In her first season at ODU, the women's program placed fifth or better in six tournaments. This past season, the Monarchs finished 74th in Golfstat.com rankings and 78th in the Golfweek/Sagarin rankings.

Robertson is also an outstanding player. In September of 2010, Robertson reached the finals of the U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur Championship, but fell just short of the title against Meghan Stasi in the 18-hole final at Wichita Country Club (Kan.). She won the 2006 Virginia State Amateur Championship. During the Virginia Tech inaugural season, while on a spring break trip with the two original members of the team, Robertson carded two hole-in-ones on the front nine of the Celebration Golf Club in Orlando, Florida. Odds of that happening in a round is 1 in 67 million.

Robertson had been serving as the Virginia State Golf Association's Junior golf club tournament director in Hampton Roads. She played on the LPGA Future's Tour from 2007-09, and was an assistant golf coach at James Madison for the 2005-06 season.

Robertson was one of five collegiate women golfers chosen to represent the USA in the Collegiate World Championships, and in 2006 was the Women's Amateur Golf Champion for the State of Virginia. She was selected NGCA (National Golf Coaches Association) All-American Scholar Athlete in 2005.

The Tazewell, Va., native graduated from James Madison University in 2005 with a B.S. degree in public administration with a concentration in criminal justice. She received a M.S. degree in sport management in 2007 from West Virginia University.

At JMU, the then Carol Green excelled on the course and in the classroom. She was a two-time Colonial Athletic Association Player of the Year, in 2003 and 2004, and three-time first team All-CAA selection. She was the conference championship medalist in 2003, and twice qualified for the NCAA East Region. In January 2012, she was one of 25 selected to the CAA's Silver Anniversary team for women's golf. She was on the Dean's List twice, was a three-time winner of the CAA Commissioner's Academic Award and was inducted into the National Society of Collegiate Scholars. She also was named a National Golf Coaches Association All-American Scholar-Athlete as a senior.

Robertson and her family are no strangers to Virginia Tech or top-level golf in the Commonwealth. Her father, Charles, is a past president of the VSGA, her older brother, Chuck, played collegiately at Washington and Lee and her younger brother, Garland, was a four-year letter winner on the Hokie men's golf team from 2007-11. He is currently 13th on the all-time scoring list in Virginia Tech history. Robertson and her husband, Jason, who also played golf at JMU, have a three-year old son JJ.
